TIPS

The warmer months our fingers tend to get swollen and the opposite in colder months. Our designs are smooth inside the band and sit flush to the finger; they can feel tighter than a thinner or hollow band.

THUMB

Rings that are less chunky and sit more flush to the thumb are best. The knuckle is the widest part, so bear this in mind when measuring. Once you've got the ring over the knuckle it'll be secure.

INDEX FINGER

If you look at your hand, you will see and feel that the index finger tends to have a more flesh on the base of it. This means that any ring you order will fit rather snug. We often suggest increasing your ring size by +1 size which will allow you to bend your finger.

MIDDLE & RING FINGERS

Watch out for the knuckle on the fingers, especially if the finger is narrow at the base. When choosing rings for these fingers, remember that if it comfortably slips over the knuckle, it will be far too big for the base and will more than likely swing around the finger.

PINKY FINGER

That finger need extra attention because people tend to lose their ring off of that finger all the time - especially when hands are cold or wet, or going in and out of pockets. The rule is to wear it as tight as comfortably possible and still be able to bend your finger - if it's too tight, it's better to loosen it than lose it.

BRACELETS

Measuring your wrist is the best way to determine your correct bracelet, bangle or cuff size.

Measure your wrist in the same way as shown above for the finger.
